The Carnaby gets even more buzzworthy with the addition of a Metro grocery store

Grocery shopping in the city can be a bit of a hassle. Any city slicker who has to trek or drive more than 5 minutes to pick up avocados and yogurt will attest to that. And in the winter? Forget about it...

So what do you call a new development that has a grocery store at its base? You call it ultra-convenient. You also call it The Carnaby.

The Streetcar Development and Dundee Realty project has been a hit because of its great location in the uber-hip enclave of Queen West. And it looks like that location just got even sweeter with the addition of a Metro grocery store to The Carnaby's base. The Metro will be 25,000 square feet and boast fresh produce, meat, baked good, seafood and even a pharmacy.

A brilliant move! Potential purchasers will also be enticed by the limited time incentives available which include $3,000 incentives on one-bedroom, $5,000 on one bedrooms with dens and $10,000 on two bedrooms and two bedrooms with dens.

We're betting there will be more buzz on this one soon, but this is certainly great food for thought in the meantime...
